Thursday March 20: Some say it's Spring...

Greetings again for our March 20 Meeting: Thursday 7-9pm ("Daylight Time") at The U/U Fellowship: 2884 US Route 68; South of Yellow Springs Ohio just three miles South of town.

This is where we meet. The Unitarian/Universalist Fellowship kindly rents their space to us...

On Thursday March 20, 2014
From Hibernation we emerge...

Can you believe the authorities decided to monkey around with our time again? "Daylight Savings Time" they call it. Started by Germans in the Great War; and quickly adopted by other war-mongering powers, our rulers decide what the time shall be; not the Sun; not the Creator; but by bureaucrats in the Capital City. Thus, latecomers will be welcome, no problem...

- 3/20/14 Nancy Lee Bentley from the intentional community of Stelle Illinois will speak on the radical implications of Community Supported Agriculture, Gardens, Farms and taking charge of our own FOOD. Don't be misled into believing that our Keepers really intend to give us so much Bread and Circus for our munificent benefit. Can there be more profound implications lurking within the near monopoly of food production in North America by Government/Corporate Agriculture? Since Ukraine in the news, we would well remember the Holodomor, a contrived famine in 1932-33 by Leon Trotsky to exterminate the Kulaks (successful Ukrainian farmers). Ethnic cleansing on a grand scale; about 7.5 million dead, all White Christians (Source: Wikipedia: <http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Holodomor>). Thus today, much Anti-Semitism lingers from the actions of Bolsheviks under Trotsky. The "muscle" of the street revolution in Kiev supplied by "Svoboda" and "Right Sector". Our Speaker for April: Dan Kremer of E.A.T Food for Life

E.A.T. Food for Life Farm is home for me (Dan), my faithful and supportive wife, Nancy, and our six children Maria (18), Ben (15), Rita (13), and Joseph (9) and David (5) and Rose (3). For me, coming back to the farm in 1998 was probably how the Israelites felt as they were freed from the bondage of slavery in Egypt. After completing two degrees and working 12 years in corporate America, I had finally been purified to the point of discovering that God was calling me out of a corporate, urban lifestyle in Dayton to a simple, rural way of life. We returned to the farm to fulfill our most important vocation: Home schooling our children in order to teach them the ways of God. Our certified organic family farm is 140 acres of crops, woods, pasture, and a pond located in northern Darke county. This farm, once called Kremer Farms, was owned and operated by my Grandfather, Bernard Kremer, then by my father, Carl Kremer. The rugged two-story brick farmhouse we live in now was built in 1868 and has a foundation of stones; gathered by our ancestors from the very land itself.

The Mission

E.A.T. Food for Life Farm is a 140-acre, chemical free, non-GMO, family farm located in northern Darke county near North Star, Ohio. Our goal is to honor God in all that we do. Our family mission is to grow and distribute nutrient-dense, traditional, safe foods that nourish, protect, and support life for improved health and energy. We also offer monthly health seminars to help people understand the causes of their health imbalances and/or lack of energy based on “less than ideal” food choices. Our products and services are designed to help people discover and experience the connection between quality of food and quality of life.

Some Background

As a hemophiliac, some of the most vivid memories I hold of the farm is my Dad carrying me to the car in the middle of a cold winter night to visit Dr. Stevens for a blood transfusion. It would be a 45 minute ride of throbbing pain caused by an internal joint bleed that needed immediate relief. These frequent experiences were the foundation of my childhood that helped me understand the value of modern medicine and sacrificial love. These memories were balanced by the summer days spent raking acres and acres of hay, enjoying the warm sun, and smelling the fragrances of rich alfalfa on our dairy farm. However, because of the hemophilia, I knew that my physical constraints would not allow me to be like Dad, and therefore my vocation could not possibly have been farming. Off to college I went (where I met my wife Nancy).

I started with the plans of securing some sort of high paying office job in the city. I received a bachelors degree in mechanical engineering from the University of Dayton and a Masters degree in business from Xavier University. Soon followed 12 years of corporate work at GE Aircraft Engines and Reynolds & Reynolds, but all the while I was pretending to be someone I was not. God started my journey back to the farm in 1990 when I learned that the blood products I was using were not as pure as the “medical authorities” claimed. Seemed like each week when I received a blood transfusion of life-giving blood, I was also assaulting my immune system with impurities from our nation's blood supply. These same “medical authorities” recommended treating the symptoms of this problem with more drugs which I dutifully took for one long year during which time I got worse rather than better...

April 24 Speaker: Dan Kremer of E.A.T Food for Life

At the same time my doctors pronounced and strongly suggested I not start a family because it was irresponsible and risky. This experience ignited my passion for wanting to discover the meaning of my life. In 1991, Nancy and I learned that the Blessed Virgin Mary was appearing to people down in Conyers, Georgia! So we made a trip to seek out the truth for ourselves. In this process, we fell in love with Mother Mary. Then in love we fell with Jesus. To give our lives, without condition, to her Son is about what happened. One of the fruits of giving our lives over to Jesus thru Mary in 1995 was being introduced to a nutritionist in Michigan (Dr. Saints) who instructed me in the principles and benefits of eating raw foods for healing and health. She also helped me understand that only food had the capacity to rebuild cells and tissue in the temple of our bodies. Big Pharma drugs (as opposed to wild crafted Herbs) address symptoms of disease while leaving behind toxic residues lingering at the cellular level.

Wild, whole organic food supplements

A year after discovering this truth, I was introduced to Clyde who was working at the Apostolate for Family Consecration just outside of Steubenville, Ohio. Clyde was the instrument that God chose to introduce me to wild, whole organic food supplements. After 6 weeks of eating Super Blue Green Algae and related super food products, I started to experience a radical transformation in my health. My immune system was being restored and I had a whole new level of energy that I had never experienced before in my life. This was the spark that started the fire of understanding deep truths about food and farming. I then started to research and read what the church had to say about this issue through National Catholic Rural Life. One key fact continually towers above all the other facts and figures. Over 20,000 Cancer cases each year are directly linked to agricultural chemicals suggesting that our modern chemical farming practices are less than safe.

After much prayer and discernment, Nancy and I decided to move back to my Grandfathers farm, restore the old brick farmhouse that was originally built in 1868, and start the process of transitioning the farm to organic. This simply meant to stop killing the life in the soil and start focusing on proper environmental stewardship of the land by nourishing and restoring the life in the soil leading to producing safe, life-giving food. (meat, milk, bread, eggs, corn, soybeans, spelt, produce etc). Now as we enter into Spring again, we are continuing to discover the fullness of our vocation in helping people discover God's plan for healthy food and healthy families. We desire to continue this family mission in and thru our children. (and through our children, achieve real immortality right here in this Earth dimension; BMF Jr)

And now let's hear some more from Nancy Lee Bentley, our Speaker coming right up on Thursday, March 20 at the U/U Fellowship; 7-9pm. Nancy attended and networked around at the recent 35th Annual Ohio Ecological Food and Farm Association Conference just East of Columbus in Granville, Ohio. A big crowd of many local Food producers, gardeners, farmers and activists came together for a long and dynamic weekend in February and we will get a nice report.

Our prayers go out to his wife, Ann Klosterman, and all thirteen of the Klosterman children, numerous Grandchildren and a good batch of Great Grandchildren.
