Hello and welcome to The Treehouse for Earth's Children. We are organic health food store that has been in business for 15 years, our staff is knowledgeable and has over 40 year of experience. As well as being a first rate health food store, we are a group/community that are working together on multiple levels, bringing true knowledge together, so that it can be used successfully for free thinking, functional doers and achievers to restore the environment and ourselves.

At the Treehouse For Earth's Children we promote a wide variety of modalities that are used to support the health of people and planet Earth. These include Diet and Nutrition, 100 % Organic Deli with a real Norwalk Juicing Press(known to be the worlds finest Juicer, giving the best flavor and nutrition value) , 100 % Organic Produce, Raw Food, Well researched supplements and programs, Biodynamic Farming, Gerson's Therapy, Massage Therapy, Biofeedback, Iridology, Biodynamical grown wheatgrass juice, community gardens and sustainable living, knowledge on Wilhelm Reich's inventions and therapies, Viktor Schaubeger information on advanced natural energies, Rudolph Steiner's philosophies, books on health and science, museum of ancient sciences to wake your mind up and much more.

The Treehouse for Earth's Children is a center of learning, that has attracted many great people from around the world. These great people all came to learn what we know and helped fund us in some way.

Matthew Yanke– Has been practicing massage for 5 years. Training in the beginning with Christine who gave him a very solid foundation to advance to "Irene's Myomassology School" to get his credit hours. An affinity for "Natural healing", has manifested into an effectiveness at helping out clients. As well as everyone else at the Treehouse; he eats 100 % organic food, does not smoke, use drugs or hard liquor. Definitely one of the reasons for his success with massage; claiming: "the healthier I am, the more I seem to be able to help people". Matthew admits he likes massage the more he does it and senses the "Power" simply flows from his hands into his clients' bodies exactly where it needs to go and do its healing work... (Wow!)

"Matt and Brian are two guys from Michigan, who are interested in what is really going on. Both have spent alot of their time searching for answers to questions not normally asked. Both are interested in making positive changes down here on Earth, with focus on Biodynamic farming and Ormus as tools to allow us to succeed and carry on through the hard times."

- Well, Gee Whiz... Some Earthquake in Japan... and then a tsunami immediately thereafter... Like what a wake-up call! Guess that Nuclear Power wasn't so bright an idea after all:

Now, with one Mark 1 containment vessel damaged at the embattled Fukushima Daiichi nuclear plant and other vessels there under severe strain, the weaknesses of the design — developed in the 1960s by General Electric — could be contributing to the unfolding catastrophe.

When the ability to cool a reactor is compromised, the containment vessel is the last line of defense. Typically made of steel and concrete, it is designed to prevent — for a time — melting fuel rods from spewing radiation into the environment if cooling efforts completely fail.

In some reactors, known as pressurized water reactors, the system is sealed inside a thick steel-and-cement tomb. Most nuclear reactors around the world are of this type.

But the type of containment vessel and pressure suppression system used in the failing reactors at Japan's Fukushima Daiichi plant is physically less robust, and it has long been thought to be more susceptible to failure in an emergency than competing designs. In the United States, 23 reactors at 16 locations use the Mark 1 design, including the Oyster Creek plant in central New Jersey, the Dresden plant near Chicago and the Monticello plant near Minneapolis.

G.E. began making the Mark 1 boiling-water reactors in the 1960s, marketing them as cheaper and easier to build — in part because they used a comparatively smaller and less expensive containment structure.

"The Gathering Storm" by Jim Quinn www.theburningplatform.com

Winston Churchill wrote the definitive history of World War II in 1948. His six-volume history detailed the years from the end of World War I through the unconditional surrender of the Axis powers in 1945. Volume I in the series was The Gathering Storm. It covered the second half of the Unraveling and the first ten years of the last "Fourth Turning Crisis" period. The title fits perfectly with the mood and inevitability of what was destined to occur. All "Fourth Turnings" resemble Winter, with bitter cold options, biting winds of change, dark days, and destructive storms. The seasons cannot be averted. The Seasons of a year are predictable, as are the seasons of a Human Life. We've entered the Crisis (Winter) season of the latest Saeculum that began in 1946 and will climax sometime around 2025.

- That means us, folks: The very privileged "Baby Boomers" of North America. We were born right after Part Two of "The Great War" 1914-1945. Hope we have had our fun: and we have: '55 Chevrolets, Leave it to Beaver, The Psychedelic 1960s; Camelot; a Coup d'etat in November 1963; the ascendancy of the permanent Welfare/Warfare Party; a division of society into "Diversity" on one hand; and the "Elites" (big money) on the other. Not much room for us revolutionary vanguard folks who embrace and espouse Free Energy, Alternative Healing, a New Nature based Spirituality, Sustainable raw organic food, and other tenets of what can be described as a "Return of The Goddess" or Nature's Eternal Religion (Free from Christian insistence on military supremacy for Israel).
- A butterfly flapped its wings in Tunisia creating a hurricane that is swirling across the globe, wreaking havoc with the existing social order and sweeping away old crumbling institutions and dictatorships. The linear thinking politicians, pundits and thought leaders have been knocked for a loop. They didn't see it coming and they don't know where it's leading. An examination and understanding of history would have revealed that we have been here before. We were here in 1773. We were here in 1860. We were here in 1929. We are here again. The Fourth Turning has returned in its predictable cycle, just as Winter always follows Fall.
- The spark that has enflamed the planet was struck by a 26-year-old Tunisian with a computer science degree named Mohamed Bouazizi, who unable to feed his family, was not allowed by his government to even get a permit to sell vegetables. Bouazizi publicly doused himself with gasoline, lit a match, and burnt not only his own body, but enflamed the consciousness of a world, and its inhabitants, being obliterated by the corrupt wealthy elites who rule the planet. In less than a month the brush fire started by this 26-year-old Tunisian had incinerated the despotic government of his country and forced its "president-for-life", Zine El Abidine Ben Ali, to flee the country. The people's coup in Tunisia, called the Jasmine Revolution, has sent shockwaves across the globe, spreading wildfires of freedom throughout the Arab world. The firestorm started by Bouazizi has brought down Mubarak in Egypt and is lapping at the heels of Gaddafi in Libya. Tyrants throughout the world are quivering with fear. The mood of the people across the globe has turned dark and angry. The political class and media are persistently surprised by the reaction of citizens to events during the Fourth Turning.
- Historians Robert Strauss and Neil Howe documented their generational theory in the 1997 book The Fourth Turning. People who prefer blind ideology and believe human existence is a straight line of progress scorn their work as fantasy and pure prophecy. So called progressives misrepresent the theory as predicting the future because they refuse to accept the fact that large groups of human beings of a similar age and having common experiences react in similar predictable ways.
- "On Thursday (Sept 18) 2008, at 11am the Federal Reserve noticed a tremendous draw-down of money market accounts in the U.S., to the tune of $550 billion was being drawn out in the matter of an hour or two. The Treasury opened up its window to help and pumped $105 billion in the system and quickly realized that they could not stem the tide. We were having an electronic run on the banks. They decided to close the operation, close down the money accounts and announce a guarantee of $250,000 per account so there wouldn't be further panic out there.

- If they had not done that, their estimation is that by 2pm that afternoon, $5.5 trillion would have been drawn out of the money market system of the U.S. This would have collapsed the entire economy of the U.S., and within 24 hours the world economy would have collapsed. It would have been the end of our economic system and our political system as we know it."
- The implosion of the financial system was created by the actions of the Wall Street financiers that have been looting the country for decades. They created mortgage products (no doc, liar loans, Alt-A, negative amortization) designed to encourage people to commit fraud. They purposely promoted this massive fraud because they had perfected the art of derivatives. The issuers of these fraudulent mortgages bore none of the risk from their guaranteed default. They packaged them into MBOs and MBSs, bought AAA ratings from Moodys, and shilled them to pension managers, insurance companies, municipalities, states, and little old ladies. Then they bet against their own products with credit default swaps. Their greed and avarice was so extreme, they leveraged their own balance sheets 40 to 1 and then bought back their own toxic waste. When their MBA created models proved to be defective, the entire house of cards collapsed. Strauss and Howe anticipated a financial catalyst related to immense levels of debt would trigger the next Fourth Turning:
- After the near collapse of the financial system in September 2008, the authorities took unprecedented actions to avert a Second Great Depression. Henry Paulson, the Goldman Sachs U.S. Treasury Secretary, who had warned his own staff that a Wall Street derivative disaster would happen, immediately reacted like a former Wall Street CEO. He convinced his Harvard MBA boss, George W. Bush, that the only way to save the country was to fork over $700 billion to the Wall Street banks that created the manmade disaster. When Congress initially voted down this banker bribe, Wall Street showed who was boss by crashing the market by 777 points in one day. The bought off politicians in Washington DC then towed the line and passed TARP.

Rumor has it that a "Board Meeting" may take place down at the Winds during afterhours... Whoever wants to be on the New USPA Board of Directors: just Show Up after our meeting as we matriculate on down to The Winds (Nouvelle Cuisine Bistro) for some Cafe Espresso and Chocolat Mousse... There we can really talk the big talk and plot how Wisdom Quest will continue to "Lead the League" in promulgating revolutionary Goddess behavior. Our old primogenitures: the Peter Moscow crowd still ensconced in Louisville Kentucky, inherited the fine old USPA tradition when Bob Beutlich passed... but Alas! nowadays; not only did the torch not get passed... but remains in danger of going out! Good thing Wisdom Quest has dispensed with all Rules and precious "By-Laws" encumbering the old official U.S. Psychotronics Association; (<http://www.psychotronics.org/organization.htm>). We strive boldly to go where no Man has gone before... and let others follow... as we;

"Blaze the Trail"!
